Description

Pencil on paper boxed-out image showing a man pointing towards the ground while an indian looks with him, they have the stance of following tracks on the ground. The pointing man is holding a rifle in his right hand while pointing with his left. He wears a seemingly one-piece outfit, stockings, shoes, a knife in his belt and a cap. The indian figure appears to be wearing nearly the same outfit except there is no cap, only a feather. He too carries a rifle. There are four additional men in the background, three are wearing caps and the fourth a feather. The two figures on the right appear to be wearing cloaks. On the reverse is a boxed out image, similar to a study, showing several people, however, the lighter top drawing appears to be the main study for the image directly below.
