Description

Painting has a grey background with a large red square at its center. In the foreground, a large, white, two-handled tureen and its lid sit atop a black pedestal. Nearby stands another black pedestal, topped with a white pitcher and bowl.

In front of the pedestals leans an image of the famous portrait of French chemist Antoine Lavoisier and his wife and collaborator, Marie Anne Lavoisier, by Jacques Louis David (1788). Hanging on the red wall behind the pedestals is an image of four ceramic vessels in a line.
