Description

Image of a Bank Barn. This barn is built next to the road down a slight embankment. A wooded ramp had been built from the roadway to the barn's door. This allows the wagons to be driven right up to the hay loft for easier unloading and storage. There is a small window above the door and another to the left. On the adjacent side there are two openings/windows one at the top of the barn just below the roof peak and another below that, in the middle of the wall. There is a small shed that can be seen behind the barn, and a mailbox at the roadside in front of it.
