Description

View of a Louden Machinery Company Farm, likely in Greenwich, Washington County, New York. The complex has an ell barn and looks to be of new construction. A Louden Company litter carrier on a track is over a manure spreader outside the barn. The track runs the length of the barnyard to a barn on the far side of the yard. Several holstein cows are in the barnyard laying and standing about. Two men in suits stand in the barnyard to the left of the litter carrier some distance.
