Description

part, the hair puffs slightly at the ears. Both clasp their hands at waist level.
