Date

2021

Medium

Wood, glass, paper, and found objects

Description

Wooden case in the style of classical architecture. At its center, square glass panes enclose a variety of paper flora and insects. There is a small circular glass window in the case's pediment, through which two dragonflies are visible, one mounted to each side of a thin wooden rod. The case has several components, including the base (a), lid or roof (b), two foam core supports inside the pediment (c-d), and the pediment itself (e).
