Description

In the foreground lies a well groomed field. To the left of the background is a large barn with a few small sheds in front of it. A large, gnarled tree stands to the close right of the barn. A tall, dark colored building stands in the center of the background. A light colored house is in the right of the background, standing closely to the darker building. A fence is next to these buildings, closing off a portion of land, as several leafless trees grow around the area.
