

Basic Detail Report

Fields and the Sleeping Lion

Date

c.1888

Medium

photographic paper

Description

A barbed wire fence runs diagonally across the photograph, while a wooden one and stone one meet and intersect it. Trees are seen on either side of the landscape, as well as further back. The photographer is standing on the west side of Otsego Lake looking east towards the Sleeping Lion, the faded outline of which is visible at the right of the photograph. The photograph itself has been attached to a black matte with a gilded edge.
