Description

Two men pose behind a tractor outside of a barn. The tractor is powering a thresher using a belt mechanism. The thresher is inside the central part of an open barn on the threshing floor. Just inside the right door stands a dark colored cow with long fur. A man stands in the shadows in the barn to the left of the threshing machine. The barn is a long structure with central threshing floor and without windows. A small structure, likely a pen for animals is on the left side of the barn.
