Description

A woman crouches down in a plowed and worked up field and seems to be planting seeds. She holds a bowl in her left hand and is placing something in a hole in the ground with her right hand. She wears work overalls and a long sleeve shirt and straw, large brimmed hat. A house is in partial view behind her. Between the field and the house is an area with various piles of wood or pallets, and other materials. The top portion of a shed is in view on the right behind this pile.
