This print shows a view of farms next to Speculator Mountain and Lake Pleasant in the Adirondacks. Speculator Mountain separates the bottom half of the print from the top half. Just underneath the left side of Speculator Mountain is a view of Lake Pleasant. Four buildings are visible in the bottom half of the print. The building nearest to the lower left corner is a wooden barn. A house is to the right of the barn on the same property. A road runs diagonally through the lower half of the print, starting near the house and ending at the lower right corner. There are two houses on the right side of this road. Behind all the buildings is a line of trees. Fenced-in land is in the foreground of the print. The print is framed on a tan matte. ;
