Description

Four men stand upon or sit in several pieces of equipment in a partially worked field. The first man sits on the top of a steam traction engine that is hitched to a plow, as well as to two spike tooth harrows by a chain. A second man sits inside the cab of the steam traction engine. A third man stands on the top of part of the equipment behind the traction engine. On the right is another man standing on a piece of equipment manufactured by the CASE company that is hitched to a horse team. He holds the reins to the horses. This piece of equipment may be a watering tank or a field sprayer.
