Steam Harvester

Date

1906

Medium

photographic print on heavy paper

Description

A man on a steam traction engine works in a field with a large binding machine. On the binding machine is written "Steam Harvester." At least two additional men are on another machine, possibly a thresher that is hitched to the steam traction engine. Four other men stand on the ground or on parts of the machines. The name of the traction engine and its number is written on the front of the machine, but can not be read entirely in the photo. It is "The Best....", "No. 159."
